30-45 minutes

Quick reference

Full rules online

Set up

- Flip 3 vowel cards (green) face up on the table for everyone to use.
- Flip 1 round card face up. It sets the goal for your word: a Category, Question or Construction.
- Everyone holds a hand of 5 consonant cards (purple).

Each round

- 1 Build your word. Use your consonants and the vowels on the table to make a word that matches the round card. It's how it sounds, not how it's spelled.
- 2 Place cards face down. Put your chosen consonants face down. Leave the vowels where they are.
- 3 Announce your score. Add up the points in the corner of each card you're using, vowels included (see card points). Announcing it locks in your choice.
- 4 Reveal and defend. Reveal from lowest to highest predicted score. Say your word out loud. Creative pronunciation is encouraged.
- 5 Challenge time. Doubt someone's word? Shout "Say What Now?!" They must defend it. No phones, no looking things up. If the group deems it valid, the points stand. If not, they're out of this round. If something has been allowed, that house ruling stands for the rest of the game.
- 6 Win the round. The highest valid score that matches the round card wins the round and takes the round card. Tied? The player who used the most cards wins. Still tied? The group decides. A dance-off? A rap battle? You decide!
- 7 Reset and go again. Discard the consonant cards that were used and the three vowel cards. Everyone draws back up to five consonant cards, then a new round starts.

Card points

- 1 Yellow
- 2 Blue
- 3 Red
- 4 Green

Find the points in the corner of each card.

Winning the game

First to 4 round cards (3-4 players) or 3 round cards (5-6 players) wins.

Chaos cards (optional)

- Deal 2 Chaos cards to each player at the start. Keep them hidden.
- Each player can only play one per round.
- Once played or discarded, they're removed and never replaced.
- Effects happen immediately unless stated. If several are played, resolve them in the order played.

Pro tip

If the group allows a pronunciation, it's valid. Sound beats spelling, so get creative!
